OBJECTIVE

I am an aspiring web developer as I recently graduated from the University of North Georgia with a Bachelors' degree in Computer Science. Although I have an interest in web development, I am open to learning anything new and ready for any challenges that come my way. I am focused on gaining experience and learning to be able to implement improved technology, increasing customer service standards, and being able to motivate others while working as a team or alone. Entry-level developer with knowledge in HTML, CSS, and some knowledge in JavaScript.
